Award Six State Scholarships At Lincoln-Way

Six Lincoln-Way seniors are among the 2,870 Illinois students who will receive college scholarship awards from the state scholarship commission. Scholarship winners at Lincoln-Way are Marilyn C. Ambuehl, Mokena; Everett E. Cline, Manhattan; Gail R. Gregory, New Lenox; Reece W. Jones, Manhattan; Karen J. Korista, New Lenox; Sue Ann Shoop, Mokena; and Sharon Lee Vally, New Lenox.

Announcement of the winners was made yesterday by Dr. Lloyd S. Michael, chairman of the Illinois state scholarship commission. Michael said 1,352 finalists will receive monetary awards, 1,518 honorary awards.

"Each student who qualifies as an Illinois state scholar must rank in the upper half of his graduating class, be an Illinois resident of good moral character, achieve a superior score in the ACT examination, and enroll at an approved public or private college of his choice in Illinois," Michael said.

In explaining the awards system, Dr. Lyman J. Smith, executive director of the Commission, said students who demonstrate financial need will receive stipends for full or partial payment of tuition and fees up to $600 a year. Honorary awards provide recognition for outstanding scholastic achievement as well as enabling students to request future monetary assistance if their financial situation changes.

"It is also worth noting that the scholarship law insures geographical distribution of awards by providing for at least two scholarships within each Assembly District," Smith said.

Announcement of this year's 1,352 monetary award winners brings to 3,418 the total number of Illinois state scholars who will receive stipends in September, 1961.

"Since some of our winners will withdraw to attend out-of-state schools or accept other scholarships, this permits us to make a second-round announcement of winners late in May," Smith said.

"The commission offices are located at 730 Waukegan Road, Deerfield with Executive Director, Dr. Lyman J. Smith of Deerfield, and Associate Director, Dr. Elizabeth Jacka of Evanston.

Governor Otto Kerner praised the scholarship program and called it a positive step to insure the continual presence of leaders vital to a well-informed society and necessary for any nation that hopes to remain strong and free.

"We are proud of the academic achievements each of these students has demonstrated in gaining a superior score in an exacting competitive examination," Governor Kerner said. "Their high attainment brings honor to their community, school and home, reflecting the excellence of instruction, the wealth of guidance and the depth of encouragement given by their parents and teachers."

Students desiring information about the Illinois State Scholarship Program should contact their high school counselor, principal or the Commission office.

Hold-Up Action On Salary Hike For Mokena Teachers

A committee representing the teachers of Willow Crest and Carpenter Streetschools in Mokena appeared before the grade school board Tuesday night of last week at its regular monthly meeting.

Comprised of William E. Donaldson and Mrs. Mildred Montgomery, the committee presented the board with a proposed salary schedule to which the teachers of the schools have agreed. The schedule will be taken under advisement by the board after the assessed valuation of the area is determined and a tentative budget is set up for the coming school year.

Action on the teachers' raise was held up until a special budget meeting can be held by board members.

Three incumbents have filed petitions for the vacancies on the school board. They are Durwood Fant, Norval Robinson and James Stewart. No other petitions have been taken up, according to Lyman Teague, board secretary. Judges for the election were also named.

Forty applications for a summer band program were presented to the board by Mrs. Elizabeth K. Cappel, principal of the schools. The board had indicated earlier that if 30 or more pupils signed up for summer band, the program would be carried out. It was suggested that tardy and attendance records be kept at the band meetings this summer. The program will be directed by Perry Friedman.

Mrs. Cappel reported on several items to the board. She said that a bid on the couch in the Carpenter Street office for $25 had been made. The board instructed her to accept the bid. She requested a record player for the Willow Crest school.

Mrs. Cappel was advised to get bids for black-out drapes to be used in the room where movies are shown. Bids will be submitted in both the roller and the draw types.

The Educable Mentally Handicapped program was discussed. The possibility of the formation of an E.M.H. room combined with New Lenox and Frankfort is still in the planning stage. It was pointed out that something had to be done since a school board is not allowed to pay tuition of an E.M.H. child to a private school, yet the board is responsible for educating all children of school age in the community.

Robert Schweitzer was selected as the auditor of the school books.

Other routine business was discussed.

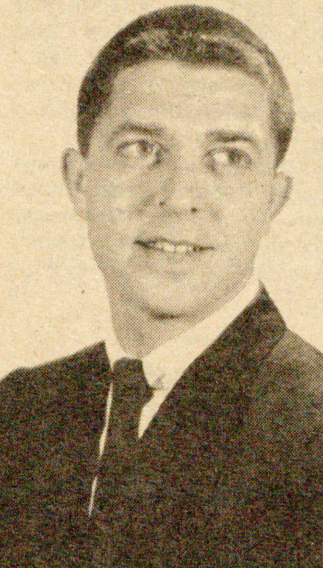

NAMED TO FACULTY — Mrs. George H. (Jane) Bills of 95 E. Parker st. in Mokena has been appointed to the Lincoln-Way faculty for next school year by A. Hunter Chapman, Lincoln-Way principal.

Mrs. Bills will be teaching in the English Department.

Mrs. Bills graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with the BA degree, and is a member of the honorary educational fraternity, Pi Lambda Theta.

Mrs. Bills has taught schools at Barnesboro and Johnstown Pa. She is a graduate of Johnstown Central high school, Johnstown Pa.

RICHARD L. HUTTER has been hired by the Lincoln-Way school board to teach freshman general science, starting in September. Hutter comes to Lincoln-Way from a junior high school in Urbana, born and reared in Aurora. Hutter attended Northern Illinois university at DeKalb, Illinois Institute of Technology at Chicago and the University of Illinois. He received his bachelor of science degree in education in February of this year. Hutter served in the air force in 1952, is married and has one child.

The lot itself has an area of approximately 10,000 square feet, which will permit space for maneuvering and unloading and loading trucks. This maneuvering area will have an area of 6,412 square feet and have a hard surface. The loading dock is 180 square feet and the interior floor space of the postoffice will be 2,604 square feet.

Mokena's new postoffice was ready in time to handle the Christmas mail for 1960. This year a new postoffice is to be erected at Frankfort as well as at New Lenox.

Special Services Will Mark Holy Week In Area Churches

MOKENA

This coming Sunday is a memorable day in the Christian year. It is Palm Sunday, it commemorates a day of triumph—triumph and foreboding. Palm Sunday is the last Sunday in Lent. It is the day on which Jesus entered Jerusalem to the wild acclaim of the crowd that lined the way of his passage and the shouts of those who went before Him strewing His path with palms.

There were frowns and whispering too that day presaging the conspiracy that was to flame into mob rule before the week was out. And the shouts of love and joy that were heard on this first Palm Sunday would be supplanted on Friday by the angry cries of a hate-filled mob, inflamed by the high priest and his henchmen who saw extinction of their corrupt, money making practices unless Our Lord was killed.

In many churches palms will be distributed this Sunday but all of them will have special services in keeping with the season.

Palm Sunday also ushers in Holy Week.

Practically all churches in the area now observe Holy Week with services for adults and special chapel services held mornings before school for youngsters in the public schools who wish to attend. The parochial schools, of course, will hold church services daily.

Maundy Thursday, or Holy Thursday will be marked with special services in practically every church. Some will have services during the day as well as evening, some in the form of vigils; others will partake in communion.

For it was on Thursday evening that Jesus sat down with His apostles at the Last Supper in that upper room in Jerusalem. It was then that He instituted Holy Communion. It was at this supper that He prophesied His betrayal that was to come within the next few hours and end in His crucifixion on Golgotha Friday afternoon.

GOP Names Jim Geuther As Candidate For J.P.

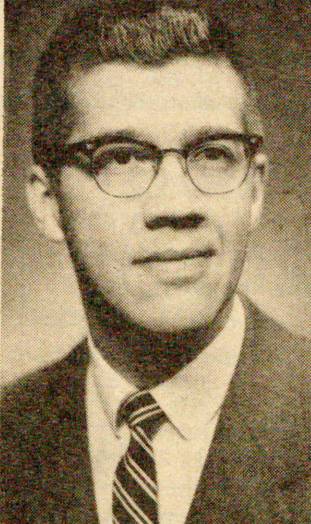

Republicans of the area now have a candidate for justice of the peace in the elections scheduled for April 4. Grant B. (Jim) Geuther, real estate and insurance man at Frankfort and active in community and civic affairs, has been nominated to fill the vacancy on the GOP ticket brought about thru the sudden death of Walter McKay, of Joliet, one of the party's three nominees for J.P.

Geuther had finished fourth in the caucus-primary conducted by the Republicans so when the precinct committeemen of the four townships met last Thursday night in the supervisors room in the courthouse at Joliet he was their only and unanimous choice. Albert H. Krusemark, a Frankfort committeeman, presided as chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Geuther, who is 38 years old, is a native of Frankfort and has resided there most of his life. His father, Henry A. Geuther served Frankfort township as its clerk for 20 years, but Jim, as he is mostly called, has never been a candidate for public office before.

He was graduated by Joliet high school and attended the University of Chicago. He served in World War II with the 44th Div. and was wounded in France.

For the past four years he has been associated with the H. J. Lambrecht real estate and insurance agency. Before

Mokenan On Peace Trek Nears Area

The peace walk, in which Jerry Lehmann, 24, of Mokena, is participating, is scheduled to pass thru Joliet next Thursday, March 30, and arrive Chicago via U. S. 66 that night.

The peace walk, which began at San Francisco, Dec. 1, 1960, is scheduled to end at Moscow next November, according to the leaflet, is intended to get people to think about international peace. The walk is sponsored by the Committee for Non-Violent action which states that its program for peace is founded on belief that military power is immoral and will not work and "that people demand and governments adopt moral policies that will lead to lasting peace."

Jerry Lehmann, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehmann, Mokena, was one of the eight walkers who started out from San Francisco. Some times the number has been less, sometimes more. Last week, according to word sent his parents by Lehmann, there were 21 giving full time to the walk.

The walkers have covered some 2,500 miles, walking about 25 miles a day. They have stopped at various places to picket places where products made are used in war. They have also stopped at different colleges to discuss their aims.

Young Lehmann has been compelled to rely on transport for several days because of trouble with his ankles. He was graduated from Joliet high school in 1953 and from Oberlin college in 1957. He was employed by General Motors as a chemist for six months. Classified as conscientious objector the Will County draft board permitted him to do alternative service for American Friends Service Committee in Mexico. He was there for two and a half years. Some peace demonstrations are scheduled for Chicago on good Friday and Easter Saturday.

Mokena Voters Will Get 3 Ballots At Polls April 4

Voters who go to the polls in New Lenox and Frankfort townships, April 4, in common with those in other towns, will receive two ballots. Those who live in the village of Mokena and the confines of the Mokena park district will get three ballots, one of them for the park district election.

One of the ballots to be given out will carry the names of candidates for the township elections; one ballot will list the names of the candidates for justice of the peace and constable.

JP's and constables formerly were chosen at town elections but under a new law they are designated as county officials and the ballots are prepared under the direction of the county clerk.

The same election judges used for county elections will count the votes cast for the town candidates as well as for justices of the peace and constables. In the Mokena park district they will also count the vote for park commissioner, which should not be difficult as there is only one candidate, Clarence W. Lauffer, incumbent who is seeking a full term of six years, but it will be extra work, it was pointed out.

Judges are to get the county scale of $25 a day, it explained but the county is to bear but $8 of this cost, leaving the township to pick up the tab for $17 per judge, which is $2 more than the $15 fee formerly paid in town elections, according to information given here.

The same polling places used for county elections will be used in the town and JP elections. There are five precincts in Frankfort township and four in New Lenox. Polling places will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Details of the election will be carried in the next issue of this paper.

Seek Workers For Red Cross Drive

Mrs. Joseph Alexander and Mrs. Edwin Schellhase, Arby Hills, have accepted the chairmanship of the current Red Cross drive for the Mokena area. As the drive will only continue until the first part of April they would appreciate volunteers for various blocks in the village and for workers in the outlying areas.

Volunteer workers may phone either Mrs. Alexander, 2651 or Mrs. Schellhase, 5552 for the area they wish to canvass.

Sedan Prairie PTA Meets Thursday Night

Sedan Prairie PTA will meet tonight (Thursday), March 23 in the school at 8:00 p.m. Ellis Flaws, president of the Crawford Countryside Civic Association will speak before the group on "Procedure of putting a bill thru the State Legislature." CHORAL READING — An important part of the English instruction at Sandburg high school is the emphasis put on choral reading, Miss Ellen Renie has devoted considerable time and effort in developing this phase of English. The readings are col-

Committee Studies Assets Of Proposed JC District

The finance committee, under the guidance of Dr. Ralph Belnap, consultant from Northern Illinois university, DeKalb, is a group of civic-minded people, greatly interested in providing the best education possible for the future citizens of their communities, according to those familiar with the group. But they are also practical people who seem to have a firm belief in keeping their "feet on the ground", financially speaking.

Theirs shall be the task of defining the cost per district and per taxpayer after all pertinent information has been collected and relayed to their group. The projected enrollment in high schools, the number of high school students who would be desirous of obtaining further education, and the types of subjects requested by these students will be important cogs in getting this machinery activated. Their opinions stress the need for establishing the most efficient curriculum to satisfy the needs of the area. Whether this should be mainly technical and vocational training, or should stress academic subjects more strongly, will be decided by the information amassed by the curriculum committee. The proposed curriculum would also play a part in the decision of locating and building the required structures. These are matters to be determined by the committees under whose jurisdiction they fall, and those decisions would paint the picture for the finance committee.

The assessed valuation of the combined proposed district has led the members of this committee to believe that excellent possibilities for the future school are easily within reach, but with the limited statistics available to them at present, their decisions must still remain in very general terms.

They have also expressed the importance of employing the most competent faculty available to them. By this means, high scholastic standards may be upheld, and a diploma from this proposed school would be acceptable in more advanced educational institutions, as well as in the business world.

As J. Ralph Groshong, chairman, stated, "This committee is the Univac of the general committee, but it must be fed figures and statistics."

Mr. Groshong, 9845 Clifton Park, Evergreen Park, chairman, has been in the account and budget division of Armour & Co. for 23 years, and has been a resident of Evergreen Park for nine years. His two daughters are both students at Northern Illinois, one a senior and the other a freshman.

W. R. Blew, 143rd St. & 79 Ave. Orland Park, president of Carl Sandburg high school board. He has been in the school system 12 years, at Sandburg since 1952. He has three children a son and a daughter married, and a son in his junior year at Dartmouth.

Another member is, Floyd Martin, Frankfort, who represents Lincolnway, he has been in the poultry distributing business for 16 years. He is the father of 6 children, 2 girls in high school, 2 girls in elementary school, and 2 preschool boys. Mrs. Martin is a member of the Frankfort school board.

Boy Who Changed the World," The setting goes back to prehistoric times and the play concerns a teenage cave boy threatened with exile — which means death — for failure to conform with the standards of the time, fighting, hunting and fishing.

After inventing a number of things in an effort to avert his fate he finally comes thru with the wheel and so becomes a big wheel in his own right.

Extras include, Roy Bettenhausen, Robert Ingram, Linda Klein, Nancy Rhine, Sue Likens, Gary Eaton, Marilyn Denny, Sharon Irving and James Wilson.

See Deficit In Baseball Financing

A $5 registration fee for boys wishing to join the Little League Baseball is asked by the Orland Park Youth Association of this amount $1.50 goes for insurance and $1.50 is the cost of the cap for each boy making a total of $3 for the two items.

This leaves $2 for the purchase of the necessary balls, bats, head protectors, field equipment, necessary repairs to field equipment, replacement of bases, pitchers plates, repairs to catcher's equipment and possible replacement of some catcher's equipment; purchase of score books and other miscellaneous expenses.

Basing figures on equipment replacements and miscellaneous expenses for the coming season the Association feels that expenditures will reach around $400 and an additional $300 will be spent on insurance and caps for a total of approximately $700.

An estimated $500 (100 boys at $5 each) will be collected with the cost estimated at $700 it will leave the Association with a deficit of $200 which they hope to make up thru donations and other financial activities.

Members of the Busy Hour 4-H club will meet Thursday, April 6, at the Schmuhl school at 3:30 p.m.

Nuclear Power Station To Open Again About May 1

The correction of the control rod difficulties at Commonwealth Edison Company's Dresden nuclear power station is proceeding on schedule, it was announced today.

Based on present programming, it is expected that the station will be ready to resume operation around May 1, contingent on the approval of the Atomic Energy Commission to reload the reactor.

Dresden was shut down last November because of a metallurgical problem involving the reactor's control rod mechanisms. The original stainless steel parts are being replaced with new ones made of the same metal which has been given a different heat treatment.

The corrections are being made by General Electric Company, which designed and built the plant. Seventy of the eighty new control mechanisms already have been received at the Dresden plant near Morris, Illinois, and the remainder are scheduled to arrive by the end of March.

In addition to new control mechanisms, General Electric decided also to replace the reactor control rods themselves when it was found that they, like the drive mechanisms, showed evidence of cracking. An advanced design control rod is being substituted for the original.

The change in the control rods is not expected to delay the reloading program as the new rods are scheduled to be at the plant early in April.

Producers Get 2 Cent Increase In Milk Price

Dairy farmers shipping to the Chicago Order 41 market received $3.71 per cwt. for 3.5 percent base milk delivered to plants within the 70-mile zone, Harry L. Edwards, director of marketing for Pure Milk Association, reported today.

This is an increase of two cents per cwt. over January of this year and 1 cent over February, 1960.

The utilization of milk in fluid milk and cream channels moved up from 55.1 percent in January of this year to 55.7 percent in February, reflecting a general improvement in sales on the market, Edwards pointed out.

Edwards reported that production of base milk for the market in February 1961 totaled $438,398,458 pounds. The base output for February 1961 exceeded the premium-paying Class I and Class II milk by 111 million pounds.

A superpool premium is paid Order 41 producers only on base milk. The February $3.71 per cwt. figure includes a premium of 12 cents above the minimum price established by the market administrator.

Harness Race Broadcast

The Maywood Park Harness Races are being carried live on FM Radio Station WCLM six nights a week, Monday through Saturday. The excitement and thrills of this thoroughbred sport are transmitted with the color and the commentary in the voice of official Maywood track announcer just as the people attending the races hear it. This unusual program, a sports event service of WCLM, starts at 8:30 and carries the full schedule of 10 races held at the track.

William Drenthe, general manager of WCLM, said the races are carried in full from the start to the finish. Music is interspersed between the events.

The 12-cent payment was derived from a premium of 27 cents per cwt. above the Federal Order price on Class I (bottled) milk and a 20-cent premium on Class II (fluid cream).

The producer price for excess milk delivered within the 70-mile zone will be $3.59 per cwt.

The prices are for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat test. The differential for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat above or below 3.5 percent is 7.3 cents per cwt.

He emphasized, however, that the 12-months basic price for 1961 looks as though it will be higher than in 1960, due in part to increased support prices and possible increased Class IV prices under the Order.

The superpool was initiated on the Chicago Order 41 market several years ago by Pure Milk Association and has been continued through PMA initiative in obtaining the cooperation of all dairy farmer cooperatives supplying the market. Its purpose, Edwards said, is to help farmers in their battle against the cost-price squeeze.

Production in February in the Order 41 area is running less than two percent ahead of the production for February 1960, he reported.

The increased dairy support prices, announced by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and made effective as of March 10, will be noticeable on Class III and Class IV price quotations of the market administrator in March but their full impact on all class prices will not be felt until May, Edwards observed.

It is expected that the higher support prices will add millions of dollars to Order 41 producers' returns in 1961, he said. He added, however, that these increases may not be effective on producer returns from bottled milk because the negotiated Class I prices may exceed the Federal Order quotations throughout the remainder of the year.

Woman's Club To Sponsor Grade School Art Contest

MRS. SHERMAN KNOX
Tel. FI 9-0211

The annual art contest for students of the seventh and eighth grades, which is sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will be conducted by the local Woman's club with Mrs. Harry Anderson as art chairman. She announces that the judging will be divided into two classes: Class A - individual drawings and paintings from schools with regular art instructions; Class B - schools without regular art instructions. The subjects are to be selections of work centered around experiences in the community. Mrs. Anderson will pick up local entries, Monday March 27 and will send them to the District Art at their April meeting and present awards to the various winners.

Mrs. Stanley Knight was elected president, Mrs. Frank Buck, first vice president and Mrs. Stewart Loeb, recording secretary, when the Woman's club met at the Community Center Foundation, Wednesday, March 15 with Mrs. Chester Williams presiding.

Later the Third District IFWC took an active part in this program with various clubs conducting sales of articles from the Therapy Shop and giving parties for the patients. As of now the Third district has discontinued this program.

The Federal School Aid Bill

For many, many months the question of federal aid for elementary and high schools has been debated vigorously, not only in Washington but in various sections of the country.

In the course of his campaign for the Presidency Mr. Kennedy advocated federal aid for schools and a bill said to have the blessing of his administration is now in congress.

There has been considerable opposition to federal aid for schools by those who would keep our schools free of domination by federal bureaucrats. But it looks as if opposition has been stifled by as nice a smoke screen as has been laid in many a year.

In discussions of the federal aid question seen and heard today it would appear that the passage of the bill is not in doubt. That appears to be conceded. The only thing to argue about now is whether such aid shall be parcelled out to private schools -- which include the parochial schools of various denominations.

This is the smoke screen alluded to in a previous paragraph. Proponents of the aid bill have thus diverted attention away from the question of whether such aid is a good thing for the schools or for the country to the point of who is going to get it.

If the thinking of the public and of the congress is no longer concerned with the aid question in itself it is only a short step to get acceptance of it.

With public acceptance of the program for federal aid to the schools the question of who will share in it can be resolved. With billions as bait one can expect ways will be found to spend it.

We imagine that the lawmakers will find some way to cut everyone in for a slice of the pie.

We are not concerned whether private schools get a share of the money. Money for the program will have to come from the pockets of all, including the supporters of private schools, so it any money is to be given away it would be only fair that they share in it.

Our thought, however, is that none of the schools, public or private, should receive federal aid. We prefer to have our schools operated on local levels so that the people concerned can have a voice in how the schools are to operate. We don't want some bureaucrat or commission sitting in Washington to set up rules and regulations for school boards, pupils and teaching staffs to follow.

There is criticism now and then of our school system, which is as it should be. Not too long ago there was a great furor about Johnny being a poor reader. We don't know if he is doing a better job now or not but there is this much about it -- if he has to use a course or books couched in the double talk of bureaucracy, heaven help Johnny and the rest of us too.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Spring is frequently a dull season for the people in show business. The early portion of it is marked by the Lenten season when many folks pass up secular pleasures and after Easter people begin thinking in terms of golf, baseball and other outdoor activities.

Thus it is that those in the entertainment field face the serious threat of being forgotten, which, is that world, is only a step from extinction.

It is in times like this, however, that give press agents an opportunity to show their worth . . . to separate the pros from the boys, so to speak.

One of the old gimmicks to center attraction on an entertainer is to have him or her start a feud. It seems to always work, however, and that is what counts as far as the people involved are concerned.

To be forgotten is a fate worse than death for a celebrity because when no one longer talks of him he is no longer a celebrity.

The same is true of any public figure.

The late U. S. Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, once summed it up very well when he was talking with a number of newsmen in Washington.

"I don't give a (you know what) what you say about me, boys," he was quoted as entreating, "But for heaven's sake, don't leave my name out of the newspapers."

This department doesn't know anything about the illness of Elizabeth Taylor, movie headliner, other than what has appeared in print or over the air.

One does know, however, that Miss Taylor's snatch of Eddie Fisher from Debbie Reynolds, sent her public relations rating downward and that she has hopes of an Oscar for her work in the film, "Butterfield 8." Tapped by the public for the role of home wrecker it is not likely that Academy would be looking her way in passing out Oscars unless she is restored to top billing again in the hearts of movie fans.

Sympathy is a great factor in winning the heart of the public and if Miss Taylor was indeed at death's door a fortnight ago it is not unreasonable for one with a suspicious mind to wonder if her press agent hadn't carried her there.

There's one thing about it -- Miss Taylor certainly made a speedy recovery. And it is not too difficult to believe that the incision made in her throat for insertion of a breathing tube will heal without a trace of the scar that was feared in bulletins from the bedside.

While sympathy has its uses one must admit that the feud is a sure fire space grabber. It seems that a great many of us like quarrels, especially on a "let you and him fight" basis. Novels and plays are based on conflict between individuals as well as causes and we lap them up.

A good feud may always be counted upon to draw a large and interested audience. And it has been used for that purpose by people in the entertainment and political fields for untold generations.

COPTER CARTOON by owen day

"Just wait 'til Mommy speaks to that mean ole over-grown hummingbird!"

Grand opera singers and dramatic stars are looked upon by the public as temperamental folk who can be counted upon to explode from time to time with delightful echoes and side effects but one mustn't give them all the credit. Their press agents are deserving of more than just a bow from the wings.

It takes real ability to fashion some of the lines attributed to feuding personalities. It may be that some of them are actually ad libs, loosed fresh from the minds of the principals but most of the time it is more likely that they are the work of press agents or a working newsmen who need a punch line to round out a story.

Of the moment the Jack Paar-Ed Sullivan feud is piling up thousands of inches in various publications and is also rating quite a crop of verbiage on TV and radio.

Sullivan has had a variety show on CBS for many years and in addition conducts a column for a New York paper. At one time he wrote a Hollywood column and before that covered sports. He has been around quite awhile. For many years his Sunday night show was sponsored by two automobile firms of the same family but he no longer has them. He has several sponsors now.

Paar, who has the "Tonight" show on NBC five nights a week hasn't been on the celebrity circuit as long as Sullivan but he has been doing very well for himself financially. He has a lot of sponsors that pay a lot of money to NBC. A goodly sum apparently is diverted to Mr.

We would either get imitators or something "entirely new in the entertainment world" (where have you heard that one before) or old, old, old movies and brother, that is a frightening prospect. Something new probably would be a lot worse than what we have.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The pace set by industrial development of our present scientific revolution in industry, is such that the effects of alert and aggressive managements demonstrate their qualities far sooner than was the case under less demanding conditions.

In the past, the size of a firm often gave it a momentum that gave some firms an advantage not always deserved on the basis of relative profits on capital invested when close comparisons were made with other firms in the particular industry.

Professional investment analysts find that the largest firms are sometimes so rigid in their corporate developments that they cannot keep the advancing pace of somewhat smaller firms with more flexible managements. Some of the largest, however, are blessed with managements which are alert to industry changes and also have the advantage of size.

Investment analysts are less impressed with traditional positions in an industry than has previously been true. Today the best analysts are well aware of mistakes made by analysts who accepted mere size, etc. as a criterion of success.

The oil industry is an example of competitive development. The petrochemical field has been progressing at a rapid rate. Some rather important chemical products can now be produced better and cheaper with petrochemicals than with previous raw materials and processes. The hydrocarbons of petroleum chemistry seemingly offer an endless field of use and the raw materials are readily available.

Standard of New Jersey's magazine The Lamp, carries a resume of an address before the American Chemical Society by E.V. Murphree, president of Esso Research & Engineering Company. Subject was "How Scientists can Keep Up With Scientists."

Mr. Murphree points out that about $12 billion was spent on research in 1960 by industry, government, and colleges. This figure is four times what it was ten years previously and the expectation for the next ten years is that the expenditures will be about $25 billion.

There were 30,000 scientific, technical and trade journals published in the world in 1930. Today the figure is about 60,000. Scientific books show even sharper rise. In 1929, U.S. publishers brought out about 4,200 literary books and 800 of technical nature. In 1960, the literary books increased about 7 per cent to 4,500 and technical books increased about 125 per cent to 1800.

The address pointed up fact that chemists and engineers must both have a working knowledge of mathematics and physics and that both work in broad fields that overlap. Men working on a problem sometimes change objectives along the way due to new discoveries outside their particular field of specific interest.

The "lonewolf" in science today who is aloof from fellow scientists, does not grow. The responsibility for keeping abreast with developments in science, is placed in the individual altho firms fear obsolescence among their scientists as much as in mechanical equipment. Company libraries, scientific meetings, and special graduate courses, are made available. Managements are pushing hard to keep their scientists aggressively forging ahead.

Mr. Murphree states the technical man interested in his chosen field must not squander his talents, but seek to expand the world's store of scientific knowledge. "He exists, in a sense, to carry out what an economist recently referred to as - creative destruction - and works to make technology obsolete." He must not allow this to happen to himself.

Hinta For Homeowners

by: JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER

Homeowners who intend to plant flowering shrubs this spring should plant them right now. Shrubs planted later than mid-April will probably have leafed out, and all of the plant's food and energy will go to support the leaves, causing the plant to establish a weak root system.

For landscaping today's homes, use dwarf-type shrubs. Since dwarf flowering plants are usually less than four feet tall, they complement the modern architecture of ranch-type homes and similar dwellings.

When selecting shrubs, choose varieties that are easy to care for. They should resist most common insects and diseases and require little pruning and watering. Ask your nurseryman about each shrub's characteristics when you are shopping for plants, or consult a lawn and garden magazine.

Dwarf Flowering Quince: Sometimes known as the "fire-bush," this shrub reaches a maximum height of 3 feet. It blooms in early spring before leafing out and produces red, orange or pink flowers. Although it prefers full sunlight, it will tolerate some shade.

Dense Hypericum: This shrub produces yellow flowers that resemble the buttercup. It has a dark green, narrow leaf about 1/2 inch wide and 2 inches long. Maturing to a height of around 2 1/2 feet, it prefers full sunlight.

Kelsey Red Ozier dogwood: Pines are valued for their soft large, dark green leaf that is deeply veined. When planted against redwood buildings or fences, it produces a striking effect. And in the winter the twigs are an attractive red color. It seldom grows taller than two feet.

Garland spirea: Maturing at a height of around four feet, this variety has the characteristic drooping appearance of all spirea. It produces a lovely white flower and blooms before leafing out.

Anthony Waterer spirea and Froebel spirea: These two varieties are very similar. They bloom in early June, producing many pink flowers. If the flower heads are cut off immediately after blooming, this shrub will flower again in August.

Evergreens can also be planted in spring, if they are dug before new growth starts.

Yews are generally considered the best kind to plant. They are green the entire year, and are particularly resistant to insect and disease attack, and grow well in either sun or shade. Dense, dwarf, and spreading yews are excellent, as fillers and accents. Hatfield and Hicks yews make very fine hedges, and take trimming well.

Junipers often called cedars are the most commonly planted evergreens. However, they need sunlight and are very susceptible to red spider and bagworm attacks. There are many growth types available, making these evergreens very popular. Andorra, Sergeant, and Pfitzer are low growing or spreading types. Kennaert and Kettler red cedars are upright and may get quite tall. All junipers can be pruned.

Mugo pines are medium-sized evergreens, growing about five feet tall, and round or ball-shaped. They do not grow in the shade, and are often used as informal accents.

Firs, pines and spruces are among the larger evergreens. The concolor fir is tall and resembles a blue spruce, but has much softer leaves. White pines are valued for their soft leaves and horizontal branches when they mature. Blue spruces vary in their color, but the varieties Morehelm and Kostar are quite constant and are very attractive.

When selecting evergreens, be sure the roots are well balled and wrapped. Plant the tree as soon as you get it so that it will have ample time to establish roots before new growth starts.

Farm Bureau Moves To New Home Friday

The countdown started this week as Will County Farm Bureau and affiliated companies go into the final stages of preparation to move into new offices at 100 Manhattan road.

Windows are being measured for draperies, floor plans are made ready for furniture, and records and supplies are packed in boxes.

Already a few members have stopped at the new completed structure to see if by chance, the offices had already moved.

Moving day is set for tomorrow (March 24) according to Gene Malone, secretary of organization for the Farm Bureau, who is helping to coordinate the move of the organizations who will have space in the new Farm Bureau building.

Offices at 59 W. Clinton St. will be closed on moving day, Malone said, to reopen in the new location, southeast of Joliet on Monday, March 27.

Moving with Farm Bureau on the same date, will be Will County Service Company; Farm Bureau Insurance Agency; Will County Home Bureau, and Will County Health Improvement Association; IAA Auditing Association Credit Association; Dairy Council of the Tri Cities; Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Service of University of Illinois.

All are agricultural service organizations, previously located in the downtown offices at 59 W. Clinton. The Fox Valley Production Credit Assoc. for the past year has been located at 1256 W. Jefferson St. and is now returning to the Farm Bureau building.

The new building, designed by Kruegel, Healy & Moore was built by Colby Eriksen, general contractor. The 14,000 sq. ft. brick and stone structure is air-conditioned and will have a kitchenette and large meeting room in addition to office facilities.

Mrs. Alvina Minger celebrated her 84th birthday Sunday at a five o'clock dinner in her home to which the following guests were invited; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Walsh and son Allen all of New Lenox; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Steinhagen of Oak Park and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miner and Miss Lola Harnack.

Across the map is a scroll with a maroon inscription, "January 1831", the date the legislature created the county. The flag will be flown on county owned buildings, as soon as flag makers can produce it, probably within two or three weeks.

The final form of the flag design was drawn by Clarence Higgins, 835 Gunnison, Chicago, a county highway department map maker and artist.

It is patterned after the prize-winning county seal design drawn by Frank Wenderski, 16, of 5942 N. Fairfield Chicago, a Mather High school student, in a contest among schools.

Cook County Adopts Flag

(CNS) — Cook county, created by the Illinois legislature in 1831, today has its first flag.

The official flag for Cook county was adopted by the County Board.

Its design is similar to that of a new seal adopted by the board last year.

The flag has a blue, maroon and gold color scheme, with a white field as a background.

In the center is a map of Cook County. Mounted on a blue band circling the central design are 38 small gold stars, representing the 30 suburban and 8 Chicago townships.

Mokena Bank Officers Speak At L-W High

Everett Cooper and Miss Lydia Baudry, executives of the Mokena State bank, participated in Miss Herman's Office Practice Class at Lincoln-Way high school.

Since the class was studying effective methods of applying for jobs and the job interview, Mr. Cooper demonstrated an interview with Miss Elizabeth Gibson, a senior member of the class, being the interviewee.

After the interview, Miss Baudry reinforced several of its important points by calling them to the special attention of the class. Then Mr. Cooper and Miss Baudry answered questions concerning job interviews, letters of application, and the general personal appearance, training, and personality traits of a job applicant.

Faces Charge

Elmer Anderson, 28, of 113 Illinois Highway, New Lenox, will appear in Will county circuit court for a preliminary hearing today (March 23.)

Anderson was indicted by the grand jury last week. Judge James Bartley recommended that Anderson be examined by a psychologist prior to the hearing. He is charged with burglary and larceny as a result of his arrest by sheriff's police on March 5.

Anderson allegedly admitted burglarizing a New Lenox home.

New Lenox School Asks Prices On Sewer Hook-Up

Four bids on the sewer installation at Haven school were rejected by the New Lenox school board at a meeting held Monday night at Oakview school. Bids were received from John Guildenzoph, Russell LaSanka, Al Ziegler and Bill Loucks. Because specific specifications for the job were not given, the bids varied too much in uniformity. Board members drew up a list of specifications for the job list of specifications and the board will re-advertise for bids to be submitted by Friday noon of this week, to John Oster, superintendent. The board will have a special meeting Friday night to award the contract.

A contract for new 200 amp service serving the school was awarded to Meyerhoff Electric company last night for $770. The other bidder was Thomas Reed and Son, whose bid was $883. Recently while street repair was being done in front of Haven school, the contractor accidentally cut the electric service line to the school. The school has been operating on a splice job.

Oster read a letter to board members from Ernest O. Moore Jr., of the firm of Kruegel, Healy and Moore, architects. The letter said that the five room addition to Oakview was now completed and that the Chicago Heights Construction company had complied with the requirement of the contract. Date of occupancy of the new addition was listed as March 6. The board allowed a payment of $33,251.52 to the construction firm.

Since the school is being allowed liquidating damages of $100 a day because of default by the former contractor, the affair can now be settled since the addition is complete. Board attorneys will meet with the group at the first meeting in April to begin settlement of the contract with the bond house.

The board voted to allow the issuance of $20,000 in tax anticipation warrants at 3 per cent interest, if the money is needed. They also agreed to transfer a like amount from the building fund to the educational fund if it is required.

Five teachers, members of the second and third grade departments, were present to talk with board members about their work, suggestions and needs. Predominant request during the teacher-board sessions to get acquainted are for supplementary readers, a remedial reading program and equipment for science experiments to coordinate with a science textbook being used in the school.

At a previous meeting, residents of an area in Homer district had asked the board to allow the area to annex to the New Lenox district. After taking the matter under advisement, the board went on record Monday night as not opposing the annexation of this area to New Lenox. Residents must get approval from the Homer board and the county trustees, after submitting a petition.

Salary raises, on the same schedule as the teachers, were allowed for Oster and Michael Kruck. Oster's salary was raised from $8,000 to $8,400 while Kruck's was raised from $6,200 to $6,600. The board approved naming Kruck principal of Oakview with Oster as principal of Haven school, Robert Fahrner was given an additional $225 a year raise for assisting as principal of Haven.

A salary raise was granted to Mrs. Kathy Dodds of the office staff. Mrs. Dodds was awarded the raise for the next year because of the operation of a new financial record system will become part of her duties. She was also given $15 remuneration for attending a three-night workshop in Joliet during April in order to study the new record system.

Louis Miller, foreman of The Chicago Heights Construction company, recommended that the school put a sloping floor under the stage with tracks set in to control the movement of the carts. This would make the storage area more convenient to use. The proposal will be taken under advisement by the board.

Kruck also made recommendations to the board about the construction of benches and cage areas in the shower room. The board voted to pay for lumber, not to exceed $100, for the school maintenance man to begin construction of some of the needed equipment.

Pick Cast For All-School Play At Lincoln-Way High

"Inherit the Wind" by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee has been selected as Lincoln-Way's all-school play to be given in the high school auditorium on Friday, April 28 and Saturday, April 29th at 8:00 p.m.

"Inherit the Wind" is not history. Altho the events which took place in Dayton, Tenn., during the scorching July of 1925 are clearly the basis of this play it is a fast-moving story in itself. The actual collision between Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan was dramatic, but it was not a drama. Moreover, the issues of their conflict have changed in meaning in the thirty years since they clashed in the famous Scopes "monkey trial." So "Inherit the Wind" is not journalism -- it is theatre. The play is set as "Not too long ago." It might have been yesterday. It could be tomorrow.

Henry Drummond (Clarence Darrow), is being played by Dennis Porick; Matthew Marri-son Brady (Bryan), is being played by James Lakin; and Bertram Cates (teacher Scopes) by Michael Tate. All three of these young men are outstanding speakers. The total cast represents fifty of Lincoln-Way's best talent in drama. The play will be directed by Melvin Donahoe and assisted by Karen Korista.

organizations, according to Louis Loebe. Loebe, chairman of the public relation section of the Lincoln-Way Citizens Committee said the program including the slides and a short talk require about 20 minutes.

It was suggested at the committee's meeting, last Thursday that any program chairman of interested groups who would like the program, should contact any of the following: Mokena: Norvil Robinson, Mokena 4112; Frankfort: Mrs. Irving Rudman, Frankfort 4631; New Lenox and Manhattan: Lewis Loebe, Huxley 5-5661.

Other members of the public relations section who can furnish information about the program are: Mokena: Capt. Robert C. Cheatwood, D. L. Fant, James P. Graine, Robert C. Hummford, John Perick and Roy Richardson. Frankfort: Mrs. Pearl Cheney, Jack Ewing, Rev. James Parker, Leonard Patterson, Ralph Dralle and Barbara Putman. New Lenox: Mrs. Danal Anderson, Joseph E. Hartung and William J. Heidrich.

The slides have been currently scheduled for the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce, Ritz Restaurant Rt. 30 7:30 p.m. April 12. The same evening the Frankfort Parents Teachers will view the program at 9 p.m. at the Frankfort Grade School. At 7:30, April 13 the Arbury Hills Parent teachers will have the program presented to them at the Arbury Hills school. On April 18 the slides will be shown to the Lions of Frankfort at Arch Inn on Rt. 30, and the New Lenox Lions will host the program to the public on April 26, 7:30 p.m. at the Lions Den.

Frankfort Board Studies Building Code Provisions

Discussion of its proposed building code with special attention being given to industrial commercial and multiple housing construction occupied the Frankfort village board for a portion of its meeting Monday night.

It was suggested that for dwellings designed for more than two families and structures for industrial and commercial purposes that the code require that plans accompanying application for a building permit carry the seal of a structural engineer or architect as proof that proper specifications are demanded.

Village Attorney Albert H. Kruesmark suggested that consideration be given to adoption of measures which would require developers of industrial areas to install sewer and water and other improvements as is required of developers of residential sites.

Such matters will be discussed in detail later, it was indicated.

Village Engineer Robert Hamilton gave a brief report on streets and said he would have a program for their improvement which he would submit to the board at the next meeting. Many of the streets are in need of repair.

The board authorized the sale of approximately $31,000 of General Obligation bonds, the sum remaining in the total authorized in connection with the sanitary sewer project, to meet about $10,000 in construction costs and $2,800 for interest. The balance could be used, it was pointed out, to prepay some of the bonds outstanding.

Hamilton completed a map in which all of the lots and homes in the village are numbered, and turned it over to the board. A number is assigned to every 25 feet. White street will be the dividing line for east and west numbers while the Michigan Central railroad will divide those for the north and south.

Sidney Westby, superintendent of the Public Service Co., conferred with the board on street lighting. Several mercury vapor lights are to be installed on White st.

Also elected were Mrs. Paul Tanis Palos Heights, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Norman McNeil, recording secretary, and Mrs. William Cairnes treasurer.

At the same time, the group set down in black and white its five main goals:

1) The promotion of an informed electorate thru political education.

2) The increase of the effectiveness of women in the cause of good government.

3) The facilitation of cooperation among women's Republican clubs.

4) The fostering of loyalty to the Republican party and the

Gives Safety Tips On Kite Flying

Youthful space explorers of the popular kite flying school are the subject of timely safety suggestions issued today by Public Service Company.

The suggestions made by S. B. Westby, district superintendent of the utility, include:

1. Fly kites only in open spaces--away from electrical wires, transformers or other electrical installations.

2. Use string, not wire, to fly the kite and avoid the use of metal or metallic decorations in any part of the kite.

3. Don't fly kites during a rainstorm, or when any part of the kite is wet.

Westby also cautioned youngsters not to try to retrieve kites that are snagged in electrical wires, or from other obvious "danger" areas

NI-Gas Boosts Dividends; Will Offer Stock In June

At a meeting this month, Northern Illinois Gas Co. directors voted to increase the quarterly dividend rate on its common stock to 35 cents per share, it was announced by Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas president. At the same time, the directors voted to offer its 108,000 common stockholders the right to purchase approximately $20 million in additional common stock late in June.

The new quarterly dividend rate, payable May 1 to stockholders of record March 22, is 16 2/3 per cent higher than the 30-cent rate effective May 1, 1960. The increase was the fourth in the seven years since the regular annual rate of 80 cents was established when NI-Gas began separate operations early in 1954. It places the common stock dividend on an annual rate of $1.40 per share. "Our directors took this step," Chandler said, "in recognition of the improvement in earnings from $1.80 per share in 1959 to $2.04 in 1960. More than 43,000 new customers were added last year. From this group, as well as from our old customers, we showed a gain of almost 77,000 new heating customers. Additional supplies of gas have permitted us to life all gas heating restrictions."

NI-Gas directors also declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.25 per share on the company's 5 per cent preferred stock and $1.37 1/2 per share on its 5.50 per cent preferred stock, payable May 1 to stockholders of record on March 22.

Further details of the proposed common stock issue will be released when plans are finalized late in May. This will be the company's first general offering of common stock for new money since April 1954. NI-Gas now has 7,194,699 common shares outstanding.

Proceeds of the sale of the new stock will be applied toward the utility's five-year (1961-65) construction program, now estimated at $215 million. Chandler stated that up to $150 million of this amount will have to come from outside sources.

Northern Illinois Gas Company serves approximately 725,000 customers in 303 communities in 20 counties in northern Illinois outside Chicago.

"Progress" And Plunderers Thinning Fern Population

BY ROBERTS MANN
Conservation Editor (Cook Co. Forest Preserve)

About 390 million years ago, scientists say, some small leafless and rootless plants became able to live entirely on land. During the next 60 million years, many of their descendants developed into a wide variety of specialized types described briefly in our bulletin No. 330—Plants of the Coal Age. Among those newfangled plants were various types of ferns.

They were the first plants to have true roots, stems and leaves with a system of channels, even though quite primitive, for conducting mineral-laden water from the soil to the leaves; and food, manufactured in the chlorophyll-bearing cells of the leaves, to all parts of the plant.

The true ferns and the tree ferns dominated the landscape for the next 175 million years. Those we see today in the United States are the smaller, harder forms that managed to survive violent disturbances of the earth's crust and drastic changes in its climates. They retain many of the primitive features of their ancestors: they do not have flowers, followed by seeds. Flowering plants, which bear seeds protected by a fruit or shell, did not appear until the Cretaceous period, less than 95 million years ago.

Ferns reproduce by means of spores that are contained in tiny sacs called sporangia. On many kinds of ferns, groups of these sporangia appear as brown dots on the under side of the fronds (leaves); on others they form clusters in berry-like masses on separate stalks. Each sac is filled with hundreds of microscopic spores that resemble dust. When the spores are ripe, the sac opens and those that fall or are borne by wind to shaded, damp soil develop into flat, heart-shaped, green organisms—about 1/10th the size of a dime—each called a prothallium. On the under surface of it are male and female organs that produce sperm and "egg".

cells. If water is present—dew will do—the sperm swims to an egg in it. From this union the leafy fern plant develops.

Most of the true ferns are thin in texture and thrive best in moist shady places. Of several thousand species in the world, by far the greatest number occur in tropical rain forests. They attain greatest size and luxuriance in Brazil, Ceylon and New Zealand. Some of the tree ferns become 30 or 40 feet tall, with fronds 15 feet in length.

In our country, most kinds occur in deep moist woodlands, ravines, rock gorges, and on ledges near waterfalls. The scarcity of suitable habitat explains why only 36 species and subspecies have been recorded in the Chicago region. Thanks to "progress" and plundering people, several of those have become extinct.

Some kinds, however, are adapted to live in drier or even arid conditions. Among those found in old fields, open woodlands, or along roadsides, the Lady Fern is common in Cook county. Chiefly in open woodlands, we have the Brake Fern or Bracken. Of all ferns, it is most widely distributed over the earth and one of the few used by man for food, medicines, bedding, etc.

In your forest preserves the Maidenhair Fern and the unique Walking Fern can be found. Among the more fernlike kinds, the Fragile Fern is the smallest and the Ostrich Fern is perhaps the finest. In, or at the edges of marshes we have the Sensitive Fern, Royal Fern and, largest of all, the Cinnamon Fern.

Ferns are fascinating. You usually find them in fascinating places—far from beaten paths.

Wood Can Bring Beauty Into Our Daily Lives

BY ROBERTS MANN
CONSERVATION EDITOR

Wood worked by the hands of skilled craftsmen puts a wealth of quiet beauty into our daily lives. The warm glow of natural wood in different shades and forms invites the touch and a home without it seems drab and artificial. Most carpenters and amateur handy men are happy to work with straight boards with straight grain sawed from perfect logs. In contrast, the finest panelling, cabinet-work and art objects in wood are made from parts of the tree which are ordinarily discarded. The crooked grain in stumps, and logs with knots or crotches, yields fanciful patterns when turned on a lathe or cut into veneer. So does the twisted grain in trees crippled by old injuries and in the tumorous or abnormal growths called burls.

The appreciation of woods with irregular grain is not new. Very fine pieces of furniture decorated with veneer cut from rare and precious burls have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs. One of the prize exhibits in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York is a bed taken from the tomb of the great-grand-parents of King Tut's wife which is panelled with veneer of laburnum and acacia. It is not known how they sawed these thin layers or how they prepared glue that still holds after 3500 years.

Sometimes a burl is defined as an enlarged bump growing on a tree trunk and sometimes as almost any unusual woody growth. They are found occasionally on a wide variety of trees. Certain large galls or burls on oaks follow a chronic fungous infection. On other trees they seem to result from injuries, burns or continued irritation. In most cases the causes are not understood.

A smoker becomes attached to his brier pipe. He fondles it, guards it and rubs it on his nose to bring out the grain in the wood. Ordinarily the bowls of these pipes are made from brierwood—the gnarled roots of the tree heath, a dwarf tree that grows in France, Italy and Algeria. During World War II, when imports of brierwood were cut off, American pipe manufacturers turned to root burls from such native members of the heath family as the mountain laurel and rho-dodendron of the southern Appalachians and the manzanita of California. Since then burl blocks by the millions, each large enough for one pipe bowl, have been cut from these woods.

Many kinds of trees produce the lumpy swellings called burls but those of the redwood may be six or eight feet thick and weigh thousands of pounds. Their heavy hard dark wood is figured with a fantastic grain. Like the potato with its eyes a burl contains buds. A small one from the redwood placed in a dish of water will send up a ferny sprout. Hundreds of tons of burls from redwood, myrtlewood, madrone, and western maple are exported annually from Oregon to France and Italy. Strangely enough, much of the fine furniture veneer made from these burls is returned to the United States.

Black walnut and black cherry burls are highly prized both because of the rich colors of their woods and because of their weirdly distorted grain. This is produced by innumerable buds that failed to develop, giving a bird's-eye effect. Rare sugar maple logs—perhaps only one in a hundred or a thousand—shows the exceptional curly or bird's eye pattern in the grain. It is not strictly a burl but good examples are extremely valuable and at one time was preferred above all other woods for fancy gun stocks.

Tastes in woods change like fashions in hats. Pine boards full of knots and cypress boards full of holes, once worthless, now bring high prices for panelling in dens and rumpus rooms.

The Palos-Orland League of Women Voters will hold a general meeting, Monday, March 27th, at 8:00 p.m. in the library of the Palos East School 7700 W. 127th street.

"The United Nations Conference on Africa" will be the subject of a panel discussion, Mrs. Herbert Hubbard, foreign policy chairman, has invited the Rev. Otis Young, of Markham, and his panel for an informative evening regarding the African situation. The Rev. Young and members of his panel attended the U. N. African Conference as delegates last fall. They will present a vivid picture of the U. N. in action, exhibit a number of slides and will provide a question and answer period.
